Communities In Schools of Rowan County

Our mission is to surround students with a community of support, empowering them to stay in school, learn, and achieve in life.

It is our belief that children need and deserve five basic life tools to achieve successful lives:

- A personal, one-on-one relationship with a caring adult;
- A safe place to learn and grow;
- A marketable skill to use upon graduation;
- A chance to give back to peers and community;
- A healthy start and healthy future.

Communities in Schools is the nation's leading dropout prevention organization. Independent research shows that the Communities In Schools Model works! CIS places a dedicated school-based coordinator at each participating partner school, and in this pivotal role the coordinator works together with school staff to identify students at risk of not graduating and to implement strategies to address the educational needs of those students. We provide resources obtained through our relationships with local business partners, churches, social service agencies, and parent and volunteer organizations. The key to CIS's effectiveness is its integrated student services model, which provides a comprehensive range of community-based interventions that can help each student reach his or her own potential.

"Communities In Schools has contributed so much to our family! This program has truly bridged the gap between education and our household. We do not have the internet or a computer in our home. Having the wi-fi hotspot available for no charge has been really beneficial. It has relieved the stress of trying to stay up to date on how students can excel in learning on a different level. Thank you so much for making this an option as an additional tool in bridging the gap."
